Important note

These instructions are intended for end users and professional window installation companies. Have all maintenance steps described below performed once a year following these instructions and by a professional window installation company only.

This instruction is only valid in connection with the documents

- › „Requirements/instructions for end-users (VHBE)”,
- › „Requirements/instructions on the product and on liability (VHBH)”.

As an end-user you must have got the information about the content from the profile manufacturer/construction company. Both documents you'll find in the World Wide Web under the address: „www.HAUTAU.de”.

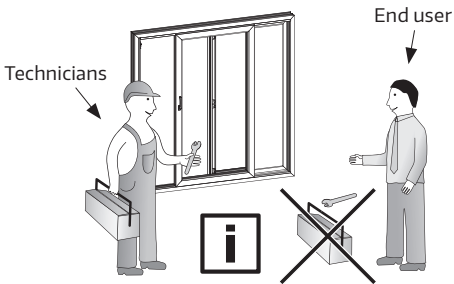

The buffers are in charge to limitate the opening width. Do not use them to stop the sliding sash abruptly. Material damage!
